❑ Study Summary

A research study on the relationship between teenage brain development & social, community, and family life. This project is funded by the National Institute of Justice (NIJ). Please visit the study website for more information.

❑ Preparing for the Visit

Confirm Visit with Participant & Family

An email, text, phone call must be made 24-48 hours before the scheduled visit to check-in with the participants and confirm they are still coming.

Before sending the reminder, check participant scheduling notes in RedCap to confirm:

1. Adult or Minor
2. Transportation (driving/metro/uber)
3. Home address, email and phone number
4. Visit date and time
5. Medications
6. Piercings/metal implants

All digital communication must be made through the neuroyouths@georgetown.edu account. Text messages must be sent through the google voice attached to that account. Be sure to remind the participant about medications, comfortable clothing, parking and to take out their piercings. If the participant is minor, make sure a parent is coming with them.

Prepare Materials

All subjects have a folder containing paper items that must be completed during the visit. Print out any of the missing items and place them in the folder:

- Visit Checklist
- Consent / Assent form
- Pre / Post Affect Schedule
- MRI Screener Form
- W9

Next, make sure to create a subject data folder on Box and on the stimulus computer under C:/My Experiments/VanMeter/NIJ/Wave-04.

Finally, set up the surveys in the Behavioral Room computer. Enter the subject ID for the participant and advance the survey to the first set of questions.

❑ Visit Summary

Approximately 2 hours to complete

Meeting the Family. Families are met at entrance 3 of the Georgetown University Hospital and escorted to CFMI in the Pre-Clinical Sciences Building. Transportation can be provided to families with financial difficulties.

Parking. Parking is available for participants on the weekdays in Garage #2. Participants must park on the street if they are coming in on the weekend. If the family is parking on campus, make sure they know to drive to Entrance 3 and pull up to Garage #2.

When they arrive, speak to the parking garage manager in the office near the exit and tell them “We have a guest needing 3 hour parking for a research study at the Medical School.” The parking attendant will let the family in and guide them to a special parking spot on level 3 (podium).

Consent. At the center, consent forms are read to the parent/adult. Upon consent, assent forms are read to the youth (if < 18). These can be done concurrently if there is more than one person running the visit. The research coordinator must be sure to explain:

- 1) all data is anonymized to achieve confidentiality
- 2) participants must volunteer to be in the study
- 3) participants can withdraw from the study at any time
- 4) no personal benefit will be gained besides knowledge to benefit others
- 5) the participant can stop at any time if they become upset or uncomfortable.
- 6) the participant may be contacted in the future for additional follow-ups
- 7) who to contact in event of emergencies
- 8) amount of compensation to be received for the visit

The participant and/or parent must also be instructed in the experimental procedure.

Today you/your child will complete approximately 1 hour of questionnaires that ask about family climate, gender identity and stereotypes, attitudes towards gangs, guns, and violence, past relationships, exposure to violence and about personal drug use. You do not have to answer any questions that you do not feel comfortable answering. Remember that all your responses are strictly confidential and your anonymity protected by law.

We will also perform 60-90 minutes of MRI. For the MRI scan, you/your child will lay down on a bed, and be provided with buttons for measuring responses to stimuli in the scanner, a pulse oximeter fixed on the thumb to measure heart rate, hearing protection, and a metal helmet placed over the face that is used to take pictures.

The screen will be turned off for the first 15 minutes while we take high resolution structural images, after which we will turn the lights back on and a fixation cross will appear. We will ask you to fixate on the cross with your eyes open and try not to think of anything in particular, letting your mind wander.

After the fixation cross, 14 minutes of emotional film clips obtained from the Stanford Affective Film Library will be played. These videos are meant to make you feel different emotions, such as happiness, humor, sadness and shock.

If you/your child becomes upset or uncomfortable during the videos, you/they can squeeze the stress ball and we will immediately stop the scan. After the films, we will turn the lights out again for 30-45 minutes while you/your child completes a second set of structural images.

The parent and the person obtaining consent must sign the consent form.

Pre-Scan. After consent/assent the participant fills in the MR safety screener, then shoes are taken off and the participant height and weight are measured. Afterwards the MR safety screener is independently performed twice. After completing the screener, the participant fills out the Positive & Negative Affect Schedule and are instructed on the task using a cue card before they get into the scanner.

Ok, now we are going to go over what you will see when you are in the scanner. After you enter the bore, we will turn off the projector and ask you to close your eyes and meditate for the first ~10 minutes while we get a high-resolution structural image of your brain followed by some calibration sequences.

Afterwards we will turn the projector on, which may be bright and we'll pause for your eyes to adjust. Once you are ready, we will perform ~6 minutes of functional MRI while you fixate on a cross with your eyes open and let your mind wander.

After the cross goes away, various film clips will play. Whenever you feel a positive emotion, such as happiness or humor, press one of the three buttons on your right hand.

Use your ring finger for a little bit of happy or funny, your middle finger for a moderate bit of happy or funny and your pointer finger for very very happy or funny.

Whenever you feel a negative emotion, such as sadness or repulsion, use your left ring finger for a little, middle finger for moderate and pointer finger for very very sad or repulsive.

It is important that you hold the button as long as you are feeling the emotion. If you experience a mixture of emotions, such as happy and sad, you may press both left and right buttons.

Does that make sense?

The research coordinator then goes through a demo using the cue card and asks the participant which finger they would use for different scenarios. After all preparation is complete, ask the participant if they need to use the restroom or drink some water (use the small cups).

Meanwhile, if the parent is present for a minor visit then they are led to the conference room and instructed in filling out online surveys on the computer while their child is in the scanner
-- See Parent Interview section below

* Participant MR Protocol

Approximately 1 hour

After completing the Positive & Negative Affect Schedule, the researcher confirms the participant does not have metal on their body, including any medical implants, braces, cellphones, belts, batteries, jewelry, toe-rings, hair-pins, etc. The participant should also be offered to drink water if thirsty or use the bathroom if needed. Note that the 64 channel head-coil is a tight fit, so make sure that the participant does not have any hair ornaments or clothing that would prevent them from fitting into the coil.

Session Set-Up ~5-15 minutes. The lower mount component of the 64-channel head coil should be in place before the participant enters the scanner room. Once in place, the participant is then instructed to lay down on the lowered scanner bed and put on earplugs, followed by headphones and inflatable pads for sound protection and fixing the head into place. The emergency squeeze ball is handed to the participant and they are instructed to squeeze it if there are any emergencies and they need to come out immediately. The anterior 64 channel head coil is then fixed into place.

The button boxes are handed to the participant in the following order: 1, 2 and 3 for the left hand and 8, 6 and 4 for the right hand. Make sure to guide their fingers to the right button and repeat the emotion for each button as you place their finger.

The Pulse-Ox monitor is fixed to the left thumb. Make sure the laser is shining through the side that will cover the nail then slide the rubber sleeve just below the minor knuckle and gently press on the anterior rubber bezel to confirm the laser is positioned on the nail and not the skin.

Monitor the LCD panel on the Prisma to ensure a steady signal is being recorded. The fan can be turned on for air circulation. Make sure the rail light is turned on to 1 bar. Before leaving the participant, the researcher instructs that they will continue speaking with them over the headphones.

Supplemental Structural Scans

Any of these scans may be run depending on the need at the moment and only if there is time left in the imaging booking slot (usually 60-90 minutes). The double inversion recovery (dir) sequences are useful for obtaining gray matter signal. The Fast Gray Matter T1 Inversion Recovery (FGATIR) are a fast derivation of the dir but do not suppress CSF. The Fluid and White Matter Suppression (FLAWS) is another variation of the dir but utilizes multiple echoes to generate two images during the same acquisition. The multi-echo T1w (t1w_me) is a variation of the FLAWS but built from the original NIJ t1w MPRAGE modeled off of the HCP scan parameters.

10. dir (0.86 mm isotropic voxels)	11:32
11. dir (1.00 mm isotropic voxels)	09:47
12. FGATIR (0.70 mm isotropic voxels)	08:50
13. FGATIR (0.80 mm isotropic voxels)	08:50
14. FLAWS (0.70 mm isotropic voxels)	13:27
15. FLAWS (1.00 mm isotropic voxels)	10:57
16. t1w_me (0.80 mm isotropic voxels)	09:26

☞ “Great job, you’re done! We’re coming in to get you, sit tight.”

Notes for Scan Protocol

- * Pulse oximetry should be monitored throughout the scan and issues documented
- * In-Line display should be monitored for all echo planar images.
- * Use the t1w once it's reconstructed to position following scans
- * Scans should be interrupted and repeated if there is too much movement only if there is enough time allotted.
- * All structural images should have the same geometry (position & tilt).
- * All functional images should have the same geometry.
- * The HARDI (dwi) sequences should also have the same geometry.
- * No noise cancellation for the emotional film task.
- * The scanner may overheat during/after the latter EPI acquisitions. You will have to wait 5 minutes for the scanner to cool off. This time can be removed from billing since it is a scanner error.
- * Time may be critical by the t2w acquisition. Be sure not to exceed the booking slot.
- * Film stimuli are obtained from the Stanford Affective Film Library

See Appendix for more details regarding scan parameters

✳ Parent Interview

Approximately 30-45 minutes

The parent is taken to a separate room with a computer to complete their interview while the child undergoes the MR scan. A computer should already be logged in and have the surveys pulled up. Enter the subject ID followed by a P to indicate the parent is filling out the form.

If there is more than one person running the visit, one researcher can walk the parent through the interview by reading the study information out-loud, and recording responses for the demographics, work education & employment, children under care and family information sections. Otherwise, it is completely permissible to allow them to work on their own for the first few sections.

It is important that the parent is given privacy when completing the rest of the interview. Some of the questions require confidentiality for accurate reporting.

Before leaving the parent to answer questions on their own, the researcher should let them know what to expect in the coming sections, how long it is going to take and that they can ask for help at any point.

✳ Parent Interview Summary

1. Demographics	12 items
2. Work, Education & Employment	20 items
3. Information About Children under Care	20 items
4. Child Demographics	25 items
5. Child-Parent Relationship	23 items
6. Family Information	6 items
7. Drug Use	25 items
8. Family Cohesion & Social Support	42 items
9. Family Conflict & Reactivity in Communication	6 items
10. Stressful Life Events	10 items
11. Neighborhood Resources & Cohesion	20 items
12. Neighborhood Problems & Fear of Crime	27 items
13. Violence & Victimization Scale	22 items

i The total survey contains 260 questions and should take between 30-45 minutes.

Once the parent has completed the interview, they are escorted to the waiting room.

✳ Participant Interview

approximately 25-60 minutes

After the scan, the participant is asked if they would like to take a bathroom break or if they would like water.

The participant is then taken to the NIRS Behavioral Room to complete their interview. A computer should already be logged in and have the surveys pulled up.

Before leaving the child to answer questions on their own, the researcher should let them know what to expect in the coming sections, how long it is to take, that they can ask for help at any point and to let the interviewer know when they are done. It is important that the participant is given privacy when completing the rest of the interview. Some of the questions require confidentiality for accurate reporting.

✦ Participant Interview Summary

1. Demographics	7 items
2. Work, Education & Employment	7 items
3. Drug Use	25 items
4. Family Cohesion & Social Support	42 items
5. Family Conflict & Reactivity in Communication	6 items

20. Sexual Orientation & Relationship History	7 items
21. Abusive Behavior Inventory	31 items
22. Cyber Psychological Abuse Scale	9 items
23. Juvenile Victimization Inventory	34 items

❗ The total survey is 339+ questions plus and should take between 45-60 minutes for the participant to complete.

After the online interview, the participant is given the pubertal developmental scale survey (<10 minutes). Once completed the child rejoins the parent in the waiting room and payment is processed.

✦ Payment & Departure

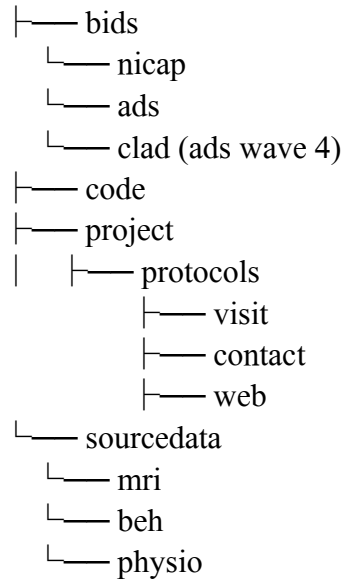

Subjects must first be registered in nimblify system before payment can be processed. If the participant is a minor, the parents information including date of birth, address, social security number and a W9 must be completed. This information is collected from the participant if they are an adult. Once processed, a gift card can be registered to that subject and loaded with the appropriate amount for the parent (25) and child (60) plus any mileage, uber, lyft, or metro reimbursements.

★ Data Management & Documentation

A super dataset for the grant NIH-2016-R2-CX-0019 containing all raw and processed data is maintained on a Box Sync compatible folder on Voxel-Forge (10.1.3.115).

The directory structure of the dataset is as follows:

Notes on Pulse Sequence

Structural. T1 and T2 weighted structural sequences were modeled after the Human

Last Updated 10 May 2019

Connectome Project acquisitions. The T1w and T2w scans can be used to improve cortical reconstruction with FreeSurfer. The ratio between the two scan scan also be used to quantify myelin content. The requirement to post-process these sequences in conjunction drove the decision to make the geometry as similar as possible.

The Double Inversion Recovery (DIR) sequence was modeled from an existing sequence in the SIEMENS tree and modified based on recommendations found in Grewal et al 2018. The DIR is useful for quantifying variations in white matter and providing enhanced estimates of partial-volumes at the gray/white/csf boundary.

Further development for characterizing microstructural variations in cortical gray matter has led to the collection of additional structural scans. The Fast Gray Matter T1 Inversion Recovery (FGATIR) is a fast derivation of the DIR but does not suppress CSF. The Fluid and White Matter Suppression (FLAWS) is another variation of the DIR but utilizes multiple echoes to generate two images during the same acquisition. The multi-echo T1w (t1w_me) is a variation of the FLAWS but built from the original NIJ t1w MPRAGE modeled off of the HCP scan parameters.

Functional. The resting state BOLD acquisition was made to mirror the previous ADS resting state protocol acquired from waves 1 to 3. Major differences include smaller voxel size (from 3.0mm to 2.20), faster sampling rate (0.43Hz to 1.3Hz), lower flip angle for better tissue contrast to aid co-registration and alignment, use of pre-scan normalization, collection of field maps, noise cancellation and the use of a 64-channel head-coil which provides a significant signal-to-noise boost. Pre-scan normalize with a moderate setting was selected in order to increase signal from sub-cortical areas and decrease wash-out of areas near coil elements. The following emotional film task uses the same parameters used to collect the resting state session.

Diffusion. The High Angular Resolution for Diffusion Imaging (HARDI) diffusion weighted images (DWI) were modeled as closely as possible to the Human Connectome Project acquisitions but placing a high emphasis on the smallest voxel size for the shortest duration with the minimum diffusion space sampling required for multi-shell multi-tissue constrained spherical deconvolution analysis. This involved 6 acquisitions of b=0 at the very beginning of the sequence, 12 directions with b=1000, 24 directions with b=2000, and 35 directions with b=3000 for a total of 77 volumes of acquisition and 71 unique directions sampled in q-space.

The Caruyer webtool was used to generate gradient tables with an “incremental acquisition scheme designed to make sure an aborted scan would result in a reasonably uniform coverage of the sampling domain.” The gradient table output was converted to SIMENS dvs format using an open source tool.
